Express Jet (EJ)

EJ DISPATCHER: Hey Captain

EJ CAPTAIN: Yes.

EJ DISPATCHER: Yeah – my – the hub coordinator is trying work something out with Minneapolis. I mean like I say there is nobody willing to do anything, so he's trying to pull some strings if he can. So all we are going to have to do now is wait and see what he comes up with.

EJ CAPTAIN: Okay. We have to do something. I mean, if it clears, I'll take off, I'll be fine, but it's – I don't know that it is – it's just sitting here.

EJ DISPATCHER: Right. I got ya. The weather load is kind of moving to the south, southeast. So hopefully it gives you a little opening where you can take off. Once you get out of there you'll be on to Minneapolis, most of the weather is cleared off there now.

EJ CAPTAIN: Okay

EJ DISPATCHER: He's working on something. If we come up with something, I have your number. I'll call you and let you know.

EJ CAPTAIN: Okay.

EJ DISPATCHER: Like I say until now nobody is willing to give us a hand, so we're tied.

EJ CAPTAIN: Okay.

EJ DISPATCHER: All right.

EJ CAPTAIN: Let's hope that it clears, because I don't have any option either. I just want to get people off the plane if we can't, if we can't fly.

EJ DISPATCHER: I just spoke to [name of XJ Agent] out there and she says there is nothing she can do to help us out. She's not going to let them off the airplane.

EJ CAPTAIN: That's ridiculous.

EJ DISPATCHER: All right.

EJ CAPTAIN: Okay.

EJ DISPATCHER: Thanks.
